

Daraz Viva — Final 8

MY CONTRIBUTION — SAY EXACTLY THIS

"I did the Management Analysis — I applied the POLC framework to Daraz and analysed why controlling is the weakest function in a marketplace model."

24 words. 8 seconds. Then stop.

Shorter version:

"I handled the Management Analysis — mainly the POLC framework and why controlling is Daraz's weakest function."

Do not go past 25 words. A short answer invites follow-ups on ground you know.

Q1. What was your contribution?

"I did the Management Analysis — I applied the POLC framework to Daraz and analysed why controlling is the weakest function in a marketplace model."

Q2. Apply POLC to Daraz — one example each

FUNCTION	DARAZ EXAMPLE
Planning	Mega-campaigns — 11.11, 12.12, Daraz Birthday; market expansion
Organizing	Departments + hub-and-spoke delivery network (DEX)
Leading	Motivating the seller ecosystem — ratings, badges, incentives
Controlling	Seller performance metrics, delivery SLA, return policy, reviews

Naming all four in English earns Integration of Concepts marks.

Q3. Why is controlling the weakest function?

Start with the cause, not the symptom.

“Because Daraz does not own the inventory. Sellers own the products, so Daraz cannot directly control quality or authenticity. It relies on indirect control mechanisms — seller ratings, ship-on-time rates, penalties, buyer protection. That leaves a control gap, which produces counterfeits and trust erosion.”

Saying only “they can't control quality” is the symptom. Always open with “because Daraz does not own the inventory.”

Q4. Trade-off if Daraz tightens control?

“Fewer sellers and a narrower product assortment, plus higher compliance cost. Since wide assortment is the platform's core value proposition, over-tightening control weakens the very thing that attracts customers.”

Every judgement needs a trade-off attached, or the Critical Thinking mark is lost.

Q5. Name three control mechanisms

- Ship-on-time rate
- Penalties and delisting
- Return rate / seller ratings

Others: order cancellation rate · delivery SLA compliance · customer reviews · buyer protection

Commission is NOT a control mechanism. It is a revenue model. Control mechanisms measure and correct behavior; revenue models generate income.

Q6. “Which POLC function matters most?” — the WRONG answer

WRONG “All of them are equally important.”

The panel is testing whether you can choose and justify. Refusing to choose reads as not understanding the model.

CORRECT “Controlling — because quality and delivery are executed by external sellers, so control failures directly damage trust, the platform's most valuable asset.”

(Organizing is a defensible alternative if justified by the five-country complexity.)

Q7. Biggest risk in a marketplace model?

“Reputation risk — because quality is controlled by third-party sellers, not the platform. In an inventory-based model the main risk is unsold-stock risk, because the company owns the goods.”

Q8. Weakness vs Threat — the difference in two words

INTERNAL vs EXTERNAL.

	NATURE	DARAZ EXAMPLES
Weakness	Internal — inside, controllable	Counterfeit listings, delivery delays, thin margins
Threat	External — outside, not controllable	Social commerce, import restrictions, fuel costs, trust erosion

Memory hook: S + W = inside. O + T = outside.

The link that scores: “Trust erosion is an external threat caused by the internal weakness of poor quality control.”

THE FIVE TRAPS

#	Wrong	Right
1	Daraz owns inventory	Sellers own the products
2	Daraz is a premium brand	Value / cost leadership
3	GMV = revenue	Revenue is commission only
4	Commission is a control mechanism	It is a revenue model
5	Hygiene factors motivate	They only prevent dissatisfaction

Bonus trap: Answering without "because..."

ANSWER FORMULA

[Answer] + because + [one reason] → STOP

- "Controlling — because Daraz doesn't own the inventory."
- "Value positioning — because customers come for price, not brand."
- "Reputation risk — because sellers control quality, not Daraz."

10–15 words. Give the reason yourself; don't wait to be asked. Then stop — let the panel pull for more.

IF YOU FREEZE

- "Could you rephrase that?" — buys 5 seconds, costs nothing
- "We could not verify that figure publicly" — always better than a wrong number
- "That was outside my section, but my understanding is..." — honest, still shows knowledge

Never invent a number. Never say "I don't know" and stop — add what you do know.
